

WARREN ROAD
TRAINING ACADEMY

TalkforWriting™

Talk for Writing – An Introduction

Course Overview:

Talk for Writing has been the most successful whole school initiative we have undertaken at Warren Road. Standards have risen in all year groups, especially in areas of 'Greater Depth', where written outcomes are of an extremely high attainment. In addition, writing for pleasure has become a feature of the school, with children making the most of opportunities both in and out of lessons, as well as at home, to develop their key skills and their creativity. Visitors to the school will find themselves immersed in lessons where vocabulary is championed and celebrated; grammar, punctuation and spelling is contextualised and used with confidence; and content is rich and engaging.

Course Content:

- An overview of the TfW process and its impact on raising standards.
- An Immersion in classrooms to see TfW being taught throughout the school.
- A book look to see the written outcomes over time.
- A question and answer session with teachers, children and the TfW lead.

About Tamara Fletcher, Lucy Aldridge and Nicole Piper:

Tamara Fletcher is Head of the Training Academy, Deputy Head and a huge TfW enthusiast. She has been hugely influential in Leading and imbedding TfW at Warren Road and has seen the process through from it's very beginnings. Tamara also leads on how TfW can be used to enrich the wider curriculum. Lucy Aldridge and Nicole Piper lead Literacy at Warren Road Primary School. Between them they bring a wealth of T4W experience across all key stages. They are passionate about instilling a love of English in people of all ages and thrive on raising standards through inspirational training and development.
