

Talk for Reading Open Mornings

SEE IT IN ACTION | SHARE GOOD PRACTICE | DEVELOP TOGETHER

Join us at Warren Road Primary School to see Talk for Reading in action and work with Claire McGeehan.

Why Talk for Reading?

Creating Curious Readers

Talk for Reading is a comprehensive approach designed to cultivate critical, appreciative, and confident readers. It's built upon a strong reading culture, effective teaching and successful leadership, with the aim of developing children into thoughtful and strategic readers who can learn from texts, discover information and deepen their understanding of the world.

The approach goes beyond surface-level comprehension, encouraging children to engage with texts critically, question what they read and develop a love of literature.

A strong reading culture

Effective teaching

Successful leadership

Talk for Reading focuses on developing the 'learning to comprehend' strand.

An approach that:

Develops children's comprehension, helping them to think critically, discuss, question and make connections.

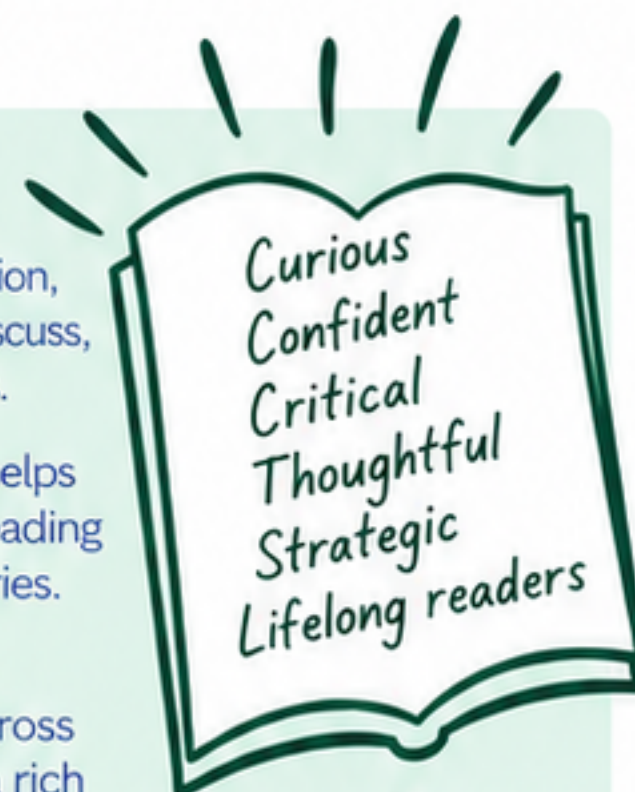

Builds a love of literature and helps children to participate in the reading conversation that spans centuries.

Includes the daily teaching of vocabulary and knowledge across all subjects, recognising that a rich curriculum enhances comprehension.

Uses the gradual release of responsibility model, guiding children from dependence to independence.

Open Morning

£75

See Talk for Reading in action across the school

Look through pupils' books

Talk to pupils about their reading and ideas

Date

Thursday 19th November

Thursday 11th February

About the Facilitator

Claire McGeehan leads literacy at Warren Road Primary School and is part of the implementation of Talk for Reading. We are an accredited Talk for Reading school.

Claire has extensive experience supporting schools to develop high-quality reading pedagogy and to create a purposeful, inclusive and inspiring reading culture.

To book a place or find out more please contact Sinead O'Mahony
Sinead.OMahony@warrenroad.lseat.org.uk

Bringing multiple delegates?

Get in touch as we can offer multiple booking discounts.